TEMPEST IN A TEA ROOM

By Tom Farley

Of all the many "yanks" who overran the university center of Cambridge during the time the British Isles, probably the one who will be remembered the longest by the local inhabitants was not a GI at all in the accepted sense of the word, but a cocky English bulldog named "Yank."

Yank, or Yankee Prince III, to give him his full title, became the mascot of the 354th Fighter Squadron, a short time after the outfit established itself at a base fourteen miles below Cambridge. A pedigreed pooch, reputed to be descended from one of Prime Minister Churchill's dogs, Yank cost $150 at the tender age of two months, which sum was collected passing the hat among members of the squadron.

Although there were many who thought this was a pretty high priced venture, Yank soon convinced them that he was well worth the money. Even as a pup he reigned supreme in the 354th's ballfield and somehow seemed to know instinctively who belonged to the squadron and who didn't. Although the base was occupied by three fighter squadrons plus service personnel, he was friendly and playful with members of his own outfit but dignified and reserved with "foreigners."

Yank roamed the entire base at will and was on cordial terms with the mascots of the other squadrons as long as they stayed within their own areas. However, should they trespass on what he considered to be his property, he chased them on with little ceremony.

Yank earned undying fame among the inhabitants of Cambridge when he was taken to tea by two of the 354th's pilots. Entering one of the town's plushiest tea-rooms, the pilots ordered tea for three, telling the waitress that the third member of the party would be along shortly. When she returned with the hot brew and cakes, there was Yank sitting up to the table on a chair with a napkin tied daintily under his huge jaws. Her surprise was so great that instead of protesting she set her tray down on the table, whereupon Yank proceeded to devour all the dainties in sight without even bothering to pass the tea.

Yank was partial to the very, very weak wartime English beer converted into a new style cabinet electric. Prices reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed. Telephone 1120-J. 708 Main. M-W-F c

Today's Sports Parade

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 8 (UPI)—The Philadelphia Phillies of late have made a habit of producing outfield sensations and there's a burly box of the old school in the Bluejays spring training camp today who will might extend the streak.

Two years ago the Phils came up with Del Ennis, a kid off the Philadelphia sandlots. Ennis rattled the fences at a 313 clip and wound up as the rookie of the year.

Last year the Phils obtained Harry (The Hat) Walker from the St. Louis Cardinals and, apparently liking the greener pastures after developing shin splints in sunbaked sportsman's park, Dixie's little brother led the majors with a .363 average.

Rounding it out might be porky Johnny Blatnik, a broad-based blond with blue eyes and a bigger chunk of confidence than the end of tobacco he carries in his cheek.

The lad from Lansing, O., figures to celebrate his 30th birthday today hence by winning a job in the Phil's outfield. He's doing pretty well, too.

The Phils obtained the porky powerhouse from the Cleveland chain, drafting Blatnik from Baltimore. And Johnny doesn't have many kind words for the Indian front office.

"They made me sick," he growled as he basked in the warm Florida sun. "I hit .336 at Harrisburg in 1946 and hit .334 at Wilkes-Barre last year and they never gave me

WANTED:*Help to spread a miracle

You heard a lot about it during the war—the miracle of blood.

Men snatched from certain death by battlefield transfusions. The saving surgery permitted, the "impossible" cures effected by blood in its many life-giving forms.

Now—in peace—we all know what a boon to humanity blood can be . . . in accidents and operations to prevent fatal shock . . . in treatment of severe burns . . . in fighting dread diseases . . . as a surgical aid in delicate brain and nerve operations . . . in preventing hemorrhages . . . as a wound dressing . . . and in childbirth.

Blood may be needed to save your life. Or your child's.

WILL IT BE AVAILABLE? When? How?

It will be available to all eventually—with your help.

For your Red Cross is starting one of its greatest projects—the new National Blood Program. Ultimately whole blood and its priceless derivatives will be made available . . . without cost for the products . . . to the nation's entire population, through physicians and hospitals everywhere in America.

It's on its way—for all!

Starting at selected places across the nation . . . expanding gradually over a period of years . . . including certain scattered local and state programs . . . it will grow until the estimated 3,700,000 pints of blood needed annually can be procured.

But only through your contribution to its present Fund Campaign can your Red Cross accomplish its task. Won't you help this great plan to succeed?

Remember, you're not giving just dollars.

You're giving mercy . . . and health . . . and life itself!

It's Your Red Cross... Keep It Going

Give Generously!
